ARROW

Review by Deborah Minter

Arrow is the new album by BRADY, STEWART, GREEN & YOUNG. The vocals by Alissa Stewart, Liz Green & Sandra Young are musically pure, sweet and mellow with Stephen Brady adding a bright tenor with an ever so slightly rustic quality. The backing of acoustic and classical guitar, floor harp, mandolin, fiddle, piano and solo strings brings a sense of Celtic/Folk in the gracefully crafted songs. Charming classics blend with the three well written originals. Share My Life, written and sung by Stephen, is tantalizingly pretty wedding song sung in duet with Liz. Sandra shows a talent for writing gentle gospel numbers with Seek And Ye Shall Find and the group number We Thank Thee Dear Lord. Angel, sung by Alissa and the title track Arrow, sung by Liz are delightful listening experiences. Stephen's version of This Old House (the NEIL YOUNG classic) is especially poignant. For the gentle soul, this album is a soothing balm of comfort.
